The Mosby Heritage Area Association with consultants from John Milner Associates is working to develop a preservation plan for the Cavalry Battles of Aldie, Middleburg and Upperville through an American Battlefield Protection Program grant from the National Park Service.

The Mosby Heritage Area

Colonel John Singleton Mosby

The Area is named for the famed Confederate Cavalry officer John S. Mosby whose rangers fought here during the Civil War. The Mosby Heritage Area includes the counties of Loudoun, Fauquier, Clarke, Warren and part of Prince William, known as Mosby's Confederacy.
The Civil War will always be an important part of our history. The area was hard hit by the war, and our mission is to study and teach its history, not to romanticize it. Our annual Civil War Conference, with the nation's top scholars in the field, is rising to its 21st year. After the war Mosby served as a U.S. Consul to Hong Kong under Presidents Hayes, Garfield and Arthur, and in the Interior and Justice Departments under Presidents McKinley, Roosevelt, and Taft.

A Call to Action

Preservation. Our mission is to educate about the history and advocate for the preservation of this part of Northern Virginia, remarkable not only for its history and natural beauty, but also because it retains so much of the landscape and landmarks of three centuries of our past. We have Native Americans, colonial and Civil War history sites. We can travel land George Washington surveyed, visit quaint villages and small towns, see farms and open spaces as well as the grand homes of Chief Justice Marshall, President Monroe, the Carters and the Lees.
