

Virginia Department of Historic Resources HBCU Internship Program

WHY DHR?

The Virginia Department of Historic Resources (DHR) is a dynamic state agency that serves as a steward of historic resources in the Commonwealth of Virginia. Historic preservation is a fast growing and intersectional field. The mission of DHR's HBCU Internship Program is to provide underrepresented communities an opportunity to enter the field of historic preservation.

INTERN BENEFITS

- Paid internship!!!
- Flexible schedule
- Hybrid/remote work allowed
- Learn how DHR collaborates with partners and communities to meet its mission and stewardship responsibilities
- Mentorship opportunities with historic preservation professionals
- Hands on experience in the growing and in-demand fields of historic preservation and cultural resource management
- Integrate knowledge of and appreciation for the past into the present and future
- Become a part of history in the making while promoting historic Black communities, places and historic events

QUALIFICATIONS

- Currently enrolled at a Virginia-based Historically Black College or University (HBCU)
- Ability to work 10-20 hours per week
- An interest in archaeology, architecture, conservation, cultural heritage, genealogy, geographic information systems (GIS), history, urban and regional planning studies, museum studies, digital humanities, and/or preservation
- Ability to work independently

APPLY NOW!!!

latoya.gray@dhr.virginia.gov

<https://www.dhr.virginia.gov/>

2801 Kensington Avenue,
Richmond, VA 23221